for the biggest choral event of the year in Sacramento

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 2015
2:00 PM

The Vocal Art Ensemble
Renaissance Choir Sacramento
Sacramento Capitolaire
Amador Choraliers
Sacramento Gay Men's Chorus

We launch the our 2-day choral festival with a performance by The Vocal Art Ensemble, a 22-member mixed chorus that brings precision, artistry and excitement to a fascinating repertoire that ranges over the whole world. Then we'll go back several hundred years to the sublime music of the Renaissance presented by Renaissance Choir Sacramento, the only chorus in our region that specializes in the music of this period. The Sacramento Capitolaire, delivers solid men's barbershop harmony that is oh so pleasing to the ear. Then you'll be treated to the joyful sounds of the Amador Choraliers, a 24-voice mixed chorus whose fun-filled concerts have been delighting audiences for the past 52 years. And for a climax to this very diverse concert, we will look to the 70 men of the Sacramento Gay Men's Chorus who know how to put on a show with energy and humor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 2015
7:00 PM

Valley Choral Society
Vox Musica
Doreen Irwin Singers
Cantare Chorale
Voices of California

An unforgettable evening begins with the Valley Choral Society presenting a stirring program of sacred and Americana favorites. Then you will experience the elite women's choir, Vox Musica, whose concerts are jewels of refined, precise, and sublime singing. There will be no let-up in quality choral sounds with the Doreen Irwin Singers, appearing fresh from an invited performance at New York City's Carnegie Hall. Next on the program is Cantare Chorale, a 20-voice mixed chorus that is equally at home with classical or contemporary music. And for a grand finale you'll hear the nationally ranked Voices of California, 80+ men who deliver an eye-popping performance that raises barbershop to a new level.

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 2015
2:00 PM

Davis Chorale
Grass Valley Male Voice Choir
Reconciliation Singers
Voices of Peace
Sacramento Valley Concert Choir
Sacramento Women's Chorus

The final concert includes five choruses that couldn't be more different from each other, yet each demonstrates its own special excellence. Davis Chorale specializes in classical and neoclassical music, and is bound to give a stirring performance. Next, you'll hear from the Grass Valley Male Voice Choir. With a dose of Americana and perhaps a hint of their Cornish roots, these 30 men will touch you with a heart-felt performance. The Reconciliation Singers Voices of Peace (RSVP) has built a reputation in our area for supporting charities and for their exquisitely refined sound. The versatility of these 16 singers ranges from classical to jazz. New to SacSings! this year is the Sacramento Valley Concert Choir, 50+ singers, always brimming with enthusiasm who delight audiences with their energy and familiar repertoire. SacSings! concludes with the Sacramento Women's Chorus, 50 women strong, and each an entertainer at heart. They never fail to delight their audiences, as you will see for yourself.

SACRAMENTO CHORAL FESTIVAL

The Biggest Choral Event of the Year Returns to Harris Center

The biggest choral event of the year is coming back to Harris Center: 15 choruses performing in 3 concerts over two days. It's a remarkable opportunity to discover – in one place and over a short period of time – true choral artistry that has been going on largely out of the public spotlight.

It's a little known fact, but there are dozens of independent choruses in the Sacramento Valley. A few are widely known, drawing thousands to their concerts each year. But what of the rest? Their excellent work is too often known only by small groups of dedicated followers. It is time for them to take center stage. Nearly 700 singers will be presenting a stunning showcase of local talent and performing a wide variety of music: classical, jazz, barbershop, Broadway, folk, Americana, and more. Each concert will feature 5 choruses determined to present their best work and keep you entertained.

Don't miss this once-a-year opportunity.

See our website, www.SacSings.org for more information about each chorus.
